Taiwo and Kehinde turn Financial Literacy and Entrepreneurship into an adventure!

Washington, DC – (May 31, 2019) Taiwo and Kehinde Publishing is proud to announce the release of their epic tale “Taiwo and Kehinde: The Wedding Trip”, a middle grade and above illustrated chapter book, written by Lola and Dupe Ajayi and Darrion Beckles, and illustrated by Christopher Fequiere.

Taiwo and Kehinde learn that they will be attending a wedding in their parent's home country of Nigeria! They are super ecstatic, but need money to purchase the perfect outfits for the trip. Follow these fun and enterprising twin sisters as they launch their cookie business and embark on a path to become two of Brooklyn's sweetest and most savvy young entrepreneurs.

Starting a business and learning lessons in financial literacy can be a frustrating and difficult task, especially as a child,” says the series writer. The two heroines of the story show through their victories and mishaps that learning about finances and starting a business can be a rewarding and fun experience.

Taiwo and Kehinde Publishing is looking to release several books detailing Taiwo and Kehinde’s quest to build their cookie empire. The Wedding Trip is only their call to action. There are many more stories to tell about these enterprising twins. The end of the first book should leave young readers wanting more.

Taiwo and Kehinde Publishing is hoping to release stories and books to inspire young children of all backgrounds to want to be financially smart and business savvy.
